Czechs Lose All, and If You Squawk About It You'll Be Shot

Many a person has said to himself — and sometimes has been foolish enough to say it out loud — "Why can't the government just print money to pay its bills instead of levying taxes?"

Well, that one was answered by a United Press dispatch on this page yesterday.

The Soviet gang who have been running Czechoslovakia ever since the Allies foolishly stopped the late George S. Patton and his Third Army from taking it in World War II did some fancy public financing, including the printing of money to meet governmental bills.

Then about 10 days ago, finding themselves in a jam, the Red managers voided not only Czechoslovakia's money but all government bonds — and all personal savings accounts. They didn't call it "voiding," of course; their name was "revaluation." But the effect was just the same — everybody lost everything, and started life over from scratch.

Which brings us to that United Press dispatch on this page yesterday. When the people got the news about what their government, finally had done they liked it so little they tore up Pilsen and other Czech cities with 10 days of strikes, riots, and demonstrations. And for the last 10 days, the dispatch continues, the Czechs have been living under martial law — that is, they've lost everything they had in this world and if they do any more squawking about it the government proposes to shoot 'em.

In view of what has just happened in Czechoslovakia, and identical cases all down through history, it wouldn't seem advisable for the people of any country to permit their office-holders to print and spend paper money that has no tax sweat or other evidence of wealth behind it. The simple fact is that when worthless money is introduced by a corrupt government into the stream of commerce by which private citizens earn their daily bread the stream is poisoned — and pretty soon all money and bonds and savings are depreciated or even worthless.

Why is this so? Because money and bonds and savings certificates aren't wealth in themselves; they are merely symbols for the real wealth held by the people, tokens broken down into small denominations so the people can make change and carry on commerce without going back to the original days when men bartered goods because they had no money.

But the adulteration of money by unscrupulous rulers is as old and common a practice as the adulteration of merchandise by dishonest private traders. Centuries ago England and Europe caught their kings adulterating the gold coin of the realm with lead. Today's rulers do the same thing when they palm off on their people as a "dollar" a piece of paper which was turned off a printing press like any handbill, without either collected taxes, gold or silver, to back it up as a working — not a phony — bill.

A working dollar will pass for par in the markets where the world's wealth of goods and labor are exchanged.

But a phony bill loads the market with suspicion — and pretty soon all is lost . . . even as the Czech Reds managed to bring down on their collectivist country a capitalistic ruin of the first magnitude. Fortunately the Reds have been so busy keeping a gun on their own people they haven't had time to blame us for the way they chose to run Czechoslovakia.

Weapons to Increase Army Strength

WASHINGTON (UP) — Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens said today that because of "new weapons and equipment" the Army actually will increase its combat ability despite a 100,000-man cut in troop strength.

Stevens' statement went further than any defense made in the past by administration leaders of the manpower cut imposed on the Army in the coming year.

More Blistering Weather Predicted

By the Associated Press — More blistering heat was in prospect for the South Central section of the country today as the season's first heat wave of the season continued.

Five deaths attributed to the heat were reported Thursday as temperatures climbed above 100 over wide areas of the hot belt extending over Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and in parts of Tennessee, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Three heat deaths were reported in Missouri and two in Memphis, Tenn., where yesterday it was 103, a record for the 3rd straight day. Sixteen other persons were stricken in Memphis.

Winds Bring Some Damage Over Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Heat-induced thundershowers, propelled by winds of gale force, raged from northeast to southwest Arkansas yesterday, causing widespread roof and window damage, power and telephone failure.

No one was reported injured.

High winds struck this section early last night but outside of fallen limbs no damage has been reported. Although some sections received good rains only a trace fell here. The wind spread the slab pit fire to yard at Anthony's mill but no damage resulted, local firemen reported.

Crop damage from hail in Clay County was estimated at $30,000 near Piggott, where winds tore the roofs from five stores and a 2-hour rain flooded homes and businesses. Temperatures, which climbed as high as 105 degrees in Arkansas yesterday, plummeted downward as the storms moved across the state.

No prolonged relief from the pre-seasonal heat was expected, however. The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said today would be "hot and steamy again." "Air mass thunderstorms," caused by high temperatures.

Heaviest rains — the first in Arkansas in 23 days — fell in the northeast, but fell off to wind-driven showers in the central and southern sections.

Eighty-mile-an-hour wind gusts ripped off shingles, uprooted trees and blew out plate glass windows at Searcy, in White County. Similar damage was reported at Bradford and Mammoth Spring.

At Little Rock, where the mercury had climbed to a record 101 degrees, debris was scattered through the business section as 50-mile-an-hour winds broke out plate glass windows, smashed signs, uprooted trees, tore off shingles and ripped down television antennas.

Telephone service to some 350 homes was disrupted and several sections of the city were without power for about three hours. Utility spokesmen said damage was caused by falling trees.

Arkansas Power & Light Co. officials said service to 18 towns and cities was disrupted by the storms, including: Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Arkadelphia, Monticello, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, Lonoke, Conway, Jacksonville, Searcy, Bald Knob, Batesville, Beebe, Judsonia, Heber Springs, Tupelo, Kensett and Newark.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. spokesmen estimated damage to their equipment to some $5,000. The season-record high of 105 degrees was recorded at Hot Springs, where winds of 75 miles per hour raged through the city, causing minor damage.

Pine Bluff, south of Little Rock, and Murfreesboro, Ashdown, Okay and Texarkana, in the Southwest, all reported high winds and showers.

At Murfreesboro, a lightning-caused fire destroyed a planning mill, burning some 50,000 feet of lumber. Damage was estimated at $20,000.

Red Attack Seen as a Bluff

By FOREST EDWARDS

SEOUL (AP) — Savage Communist attacks involving thousands of men have flared along the Korean battle front on what appears to be the eve of any armistice. Why?

High U.N. military leaders speculate the Communists are: 1. Trying to show the South Koreans what might happen if the Republic of Korea tries to carry out its threats to fight on alone after an armistice.

2. Fighting for face — to be able to boast to any nation teetering between Communism and the West: "See who is the strongest. We were attacking when we forced them to halt their war of aggression."

3. Making use of armistices and reserves saved during the winter for an expected spring U. N. offensive that never came and trying to show the world they can and will fight.

4. Fighting for key hills or positions that otherwise might fall in the 2½-mile-wide neutral strip buffer to be set up after an armistice.

INJURED FATALITY

MENA (AP) — Jacob Padgett of Mena was injured fatally yesterday when he was thrown from a runaway logging truck speeding down a mountain road. Ambulance attendants said Padgett was riding on the bed of the log-loaded truck when its brakes failed.

Three other occupants of the vehicle escaped injury when it overturned after throwing Padgett free.

19 Men Take Pre-induction Examinations

Nineteen Hempstead county men were sent up for pre-induction examination yesterday. It was announced by the local Selective Service board. Included:

Paul Edward Whitmore, William Marion Shynard, Lloyd Autry Turner, Milton Edward Gree, Jr., Eural Edward Stagers, Hal Troy Gamble, George McFadden, Hayward Spears, Homer Jones, and Gene Darrell Schneider.

U. S. to Seize Red Tanker in California

SAN PEDRO, Calif., (UP) — Department of Justice agents planned to seize a 1,000-ton oil tanker, possibly Chinese owned, which was scheduled to arrive at Los Angeles harbor today from the Persian Gulf.

The Justice Department's admiralty section will seize the tanker on grounds that the registration was falsified when the ship was purchased from the government with borrowed federal funds.

Federal officials only said the tanker was possibly owned by Chinese and did not make it clear whether they meant Communist or Nationalist Chinese.

Agent Keith R. Ferguson of the department's San Francisco office was ordered to seize the "McKittick Hills" in the name of the United States government. Local justice agents will aid him in the action.

The ship carries a cargo of more than 100,000 barrels of Persian oil, the property of the Texas Company. The government will allow the oil to be unloaded at the Texas Company docks.

It was stressed that the Texas Company was in no way involved with the ownership registration of the vessel. The company only chartered the ship to transport the oil. The seizure will be part of the government's recent order to crack down false registration of ownership of vessels purchased from the government.

Mrs. Briant, Son Reported to Be Improved

Mrs. Lillian Briant of Hope who suffered a concussion and a leg injury in an auto wreck Wednesday near Mt. Pleasant, Texas, was reported to be improved at a Texarkana Hospital.

Her son, Sgt. Charles R. Briant's condition was also satisfactory at the Red River Arsenal base hospital where he is undergoing treatment for an injured cheekbone. Mrs. Guy A. Linaker, riding with Mrs. Briant and her son, was not seriously hurt.

They were enroute to Electra, Texas, for a visit with relatives when their auto collided with another.

Missouri Going in More for Rice

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., June 12 (AP) — Rice farms are appearing in Butler County and other Southeast Missouri areas where cotton and soybeans have long reigned supreme as the cash crops.

The farmers experimenting with rice for the first time in this area say it appears less subject to insect damage than other crops.

It also is possible to grow rice on new land, or land where other crops have been grown, with little or no fertilization for a number of years.

The Butler County rice farming activity centers around the property of four men from Corning, Ark., all experienced in rice growing in Northeast Arkansas.

The largest initial tract of 300 acres was planted this spring by Everett C. and Roy Thomas, Corning brothers, near Neelyville. An additional 200 acres has been planted on nearby tracts. The rice is now about eight inches high.

The Thomas brothers last winter surveyed and terraced the land and built levees for controlled flooding of the rice. A large diameter well and a pump with a capacity of 2,800 gallons per minute serves their 300 acres.

The rice planting is begun in April and the crop matures in September.

Army Ready to Close Down 7 Additional Camp

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today announced it is closing seven more camps and installations as an economy measure.

It estimated the savings would be about 11 million dollars in the first year and about 30 million in succeeding years.

Facilities which will be inactivated in the army phrase, by Jan. 1, 1954 are Camp Breckinridge, Morganfield, Ky. Camp Roberts, San Miguel, Calif., and Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif.

Scheduled for inactivation by June 10, 1954 are Camp Rucker, Daleville, Ala., and Camp Atterbury, Edinburg, Ind.

In addition, the Army said Ft. Crockett at Galveston, Tex., and Ft. Adams, Newport, R. I., will be closed and declared in excess of present needs by next July 1.

Camp Breckinridge is the home of the 101st Airborne Training Division. The 7th Armored Training Division is located at Camp Roberts, and the 31st Infantry Training Division is centered at Camp Atterbury. The 47th Infantry Training Division is located at Camp Rucker.

An Army spokesman told reporters the 47th Tactical Combat Ready Division now at Camp Rucker will be moved to Ft. Benning, Ga., when the camp is closed.

He gave this report on other units of the 31st Division, now at Camp Atterbury, will be distributed to other installations, including Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and Ft. Knox, Ky.

Legislator Kidnapped at Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Police searching for a kidnaped state legislator said today they fear he may have been slain.

The victim, Glen Carver, 53-year-old Republican state representative, was seized near his west side home last night and whisked away in an automobile while his wife looked on helplessly.

An all night search by more than a hundred policemen failed to uncover a trace of the missing man. Deputy Chief of Detectives William Touhy and Capt. Eugene McNally said the search included places "where a body might be dumped."

"I'm afraid Carver has been slain," Touhy said.

Touhy said he didn't believe that Carver was wealthy enough for a kidnapping for ransom. He said the abduction "does not bear the aspects of a mere kidnapping for robbery."

"The FBI was alerted in case a federal violation is found in the kidnapping."

Five persons, including Carver's wife, Amelia, 51, witnessed the abduction of the 53-year-old real estate and insurance broker. Police said the witnesses gave varying details but all agreed three men followed Carver in a car as he drove his auto into his garage about 10 p.m. (EST).

Graver was seized as he came from the garage about a half block from his home. He struggled with his abductors but they forced him into their car and drove away.

In his way to his garage, Graver had passed his home and waved to his wife who was standing on the front porch with a friend, Walter Pileis, 52, a precinct captain in Graver's Ward, the 21st.

Police Capt. Eugene McNally of the Maxwell Street Station said he did not know whether Graver's abduction was connected with politics.

Ike Warns of Socialism in Government

By MARVIN ARROWSMITH

CUSTER STATE PARK, S. D. (AP) — President Eisenhower says "creeping socialism struck at the United States during the last 20 years of Democratic administration" and that the nation runs a grave risk "if that group takes over again."

The President swatted the political opposition in an informal talk last night to about 500 South Dakota Republican leaders.

He addressed the leaders a few hours after arriving here from nearby Mt. Rushmore where he told another GOP rally his administration has made a "good beginning toward a regime serving the interests and needs of all our citizens."

Eisenhower is staying at the state game lodge in the Black Hills, the same quarters Calvin Coolidge occupied when he vacationed in the area as president in 1927.

Interrupting his speaking tour of five states, Eisenhower will remain here until Saturday morning, then fly to Hanover, N. H. On Sunday he will receive an honorary degree from Dartmouth College, and speak later in the day at ceremonies dedicating Sagamore Hill, the home of President Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, Long Island, N. Y.

On his schedule Friday was only one thing — trout fishing. He had planned to get in a round of golf but decided to pass it up, aides said, because there is no course close by.

Foreign Aid Budget Due for Real Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — With nine per cent already lopped off President Eisenhower's pared-down foreign aid budget, a House Appropriations Committee member predicted today "much sharper cuts will be made."

The House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday voted 18-5 to approve $4,098,732,500 for overseas aid in the year beginning July 1. This was 470 million dollars less than the President's pruned down requests and about 35 per cent less than recommended by former President Truman.

The committee vote only established a ceiling for the actual appropriations, which must be approved later.

Rep. Glenn R. Davis (R-Wis.), a member of the House appropriations subcommittee concerned with foreign aid, said his group is talking of deeper slashes and will study the bill "very carefully."

The House Foreign Affairs Committee authorization of $4,098,732,500 — which compares with $5,312,732,500 approved earlier by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — is expected to reach the House floor sometime after the middle of the week.

The House committee also voted against the President's implied veto, to withdraw more than one billion dollars of new funds earmarked for European military aid unless the six-nation European Defense Community is formed.

Blytheville Donates Land for Airbase

BLYTHEVILLE (AP) — Nearly 3,000 acres of land was given to the federal government here yesterday in preparation for construction of a Strategic Air Command base for medium and heavy bombers.

Mayor Dan Blodgett presented the deed for the 2,786-acre former Blytheville Air Base, used during World War Two, to Col. Thomas J. Hayes of the Corps of Engineers.

Construction is expected to start in 10 days.

Americans Halt Charge of 1500 Red Chinese

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SEOUL (AP) — U. S. infantrymen today smashed new attacks by two battalions of Chinese Reds in Central Korea while South Koreans battled to plug a gap in the main Allied line on the Eastern end of the front.

About 1,500 Chinese troops charged through driving rain behind a thunderous artillery and mortar barrage in the second day of heavy attacks on rugged Outpost Harry. They were thrown back by fresh U. S. reinforcements after cutting off the outpost, the Eighth Army said.

The Army estimated that 500 Chinese were killed and another 1,000 wounded by U. S. 3rd Division troops in futile attempts to grab the strategic height 10 miles northeast of Chorwon.

Heavy fighting was reported in the 3,000-foot mountains of the East-Central front where two Chinese regiments cracked through main line positions Wednesday.

A Chinese force of about 1,500 men charged through the ROK's and moved along a curving ridge line to the southwest. ROK counterattacks pinched from both sides and the Reds were apparently stopped.

But sketchy reports from the front indicated a nasty fight was still in progress Friday morning.

Thunder storms and heavy weather grounded most aircraft during the night but a handful of radar directed strikes were flown against scattered troops and supply points.

The Eighth Army reported heavy artillery duels at embattled Outpost Harry.

The 3rd Division reported nearly 15,000 rounds of Red explosives fell in its sector during the early morning battle. American artillery thundered in reply and tanks poured

Russia Asked to Take Up Austria Peace

PARIS, (UP) — The United States, France and Great Britain have formally asked Russia to resume negotiations on the long-stalled treaty to restore Austria's independence, it was announced today.

A French foreign office spokesman said the Big Three powers asked "resumption of the talks" in notes, delivered in Moscow, which will be published simultaneously in Washington, Paris and London at midnight tonight (7 p.m. EDT).

Diplomatic circles believed the note was sent in an attempt to sound out Russia's position on the Austrian treaty before the heads of the Big Three powers meet in Bermuda, probably late this month.

It was reported in official circles that the Allied note proposed that negotiations be held on the basis of a shortened version of an Austrian treaty.

The Allies drafted this shortened treaty version in an attempt to overcome Russia's persistent obstruction. The treaty is one to restore Austria's sovereignty and independence. The shortened version consists of those clauses about which there is no basic disagreement between West and East.

The 5-year-old physicist-ambassador said "certain U. N. officials — he declined to give any names — had made an oral threat that the U. N. might force the U. S. to cut off economic and military aid to South Korea if that country refused to join in the truce expected at any moment."

That statement brought a quick, blistering reaction from U. S. circles. A State Department spokesman commented:

"Any implication that the United States uses famine and human suffering for 'political purposes' is false, and those who make such statements know that it is false."

The headquarters of Gen. Mark Clark in Tokyo pointed to a previous denial of a similar report and a U. N. Command spokesman in the Japanese capital declined any comment whatever.

Dr. Yang's fellow diplomat, South Korea's U. N. representative, Col. Ben C. Limb — expressed astonishment at the accusation, and said he knew of no such attempt at international bullying.

Dr. Yang specifically denied that he meant any threat had been made by the U. S. However, the situation spoke for itself.

U. S. Officials Are Worried Over Situation

By LERO HANSEN

SEOUL, Korea, Saturday (UP) — President Syngman Rhee is preparing a letter to President Dwight D. Eisenhower rejecting his plea that South Korea accept the proposed armistice agreement. It was reported today.

An official spokesman said that a public statement which the 78-year-old President issues Thursday, saying that the armistice "simply means death to us," amounted to a rejection of Mr. Eisenhower's appeal.

The spokesman, Dr. Mong Ke-Karl, intimated that Rhee would take this line in replying formally to the President.

A high-ranking South Korean official said that President Eisenhower had sent a new message to Rhee in an attempt to get him to change his mind, but in Washington White House spokesman James C. Hagerty said:

"That is not correct. There has been no message or letter." Hagerty added that the White House has not received Rhee's reply to Mr. Eisenhower's appeal of June 6.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top American officials are seriously worried about the future of Communist-ruled Indochina.
They fear the next Premier to emerge from France's current political crisis may drastically change French conduct of the Indochina war.

The White House and the State and Defense Departments are considering the possibility that France may either:
1. Appeal to the U. S. to pay a far bigger share, if not all, of the costs of the Indochina war, or
2. Suddenly decide to pull all French forces out of Indochina and dump the whole problem into the lap of the U. S.

Authorities who are examining these possibilities say they have no definite indication France intends to take either step.
They are still hoping France will choose a moderate Premier who will continue the fight against communism in Indochina with American assistance no larger than at present.

Eventually it may be possible to evacuate the French Army and hand the defense of all Indochina to the loyal native army which is to be increased by 54 battalions this year.
But, these officials said, there is no doubt the increasing unpopularity of the Indochina war in France is a big factor in France's failure to choose a new premier.

France has been without a government since May 25. The third man to try to form a new cabinet since then, former Premier Georges Bidault, was turned down Wednesday by a single Assembly vote.

McClellan for Table Rock Dam Money

By GORDON BROWN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) today called on the administration to approve a five million dollar appropriation for Table Rock Dam in Southern Missouri.

He served notice that with or without an administration recommendation he would do "everything in my power to secure an appropriation to continue construction of this dam."

McClellan said the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee, considering funds for such flood control and navigation projects, may complete work on the bill next Monday or Tuesday.

Last year, Congress approved three million dollars to state Table Rock, a combination flood control and power project.
Early this year, former President Truman recommended 1 1/2 million dollars for the project. No recommendation for Table Rock was included in President Eisenhower's budget. The House Appropriations Committee declined to approve any money for Table Rock, and the House backed up the committee after a spirited fight by Rep. Trimble (D-Ark.) and Short (R-Mo.).

Arkansians say that the project is stymied because the House Committee wrote Army Engineers early this year requesting that Table Rock not be included in this program.

McClellan, in a letter to Budget Director Dodge, proposed that the administration send to Congress a recommendation for a five million dollar appropriation.

This amount he said, is the minimum Army Engineers need to keep the project moving this year. "That much smaller amount," McClellan told Dodge, "will impose a hardship. It will delay the availability of the power for an additional year."

McClellan recalled that last year he participated in negotiations under which power from Bull Shoals Dam — downstream on the White River in Arkansas — was routed to a defense aluminum plant. The Bull Shoals power curlier had been earmarked for rural electric cooperatives.

"At the time this diversion was made, a number of Senators, including myself, and also the Department of Interior, pledged support for the immediate construction of Table Rock Dam in the expectation of bringing in the power it would generate in time to make up the deficiency of supply x x x caused by the diversion of the Bull Shoals power," said McClellan.

McClellan told a reporter he also is hopeful of persuading the subcommittee to increase the appropriation for bank stabilization on the Arkansas river to 4.8 million on recommendation of its Appropriations Committee.

start of the Korean War, has been far and away the dominant power in the U.N. Command, and the U.S. has directed the truce negotiations at Panmunjom, with President Eisenhower taking the lead in trying to persuade South Korea to accept the truce terms.

Dr. Yang said he felt other U.N. members were pressuring the U.S. into its present policy in Korea, but he hastened to add that he did not believe such tactics would cause the U.S. to order a cutoff of food and other economic supplies to his homeland.

The U.S. State Department spokesman's choice of words in issuing a denial was "significant." "Any implication that the United States uses famine and human suffering, etc." The denial did not touch on the charge of threatened military embargo.

It has been generally accepted that the U.S. — and other U.N. nations — would cut off the flow of guns and other weapons to South Korea in the event that nation continues to fight after the truce has been signed. The threat of such an embargo may have been trans-

Cancer Group Wins Allowance Battle

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Hospital Association won its fight to have the daily hospital allowance for Arkansas Cancer Commission patients increased from $8 to $10.

The Commission voted to increase its daily allowance yesterday at a meeting here. It also approved a new budget and elected officers.

The Hospital Association voted at a recent convention to refuse to care for Commission patients at the $8 figure.

Gov. Cherry was elected chairman of the Cancer Commission and Dr. W. R. Brooksher of Ft. Smith, secretary. Although the Cherry vote was unanimous, Dr. Pete Thomas voted against Dr. Brooksher.

He said the physician is president of the Arkansas Medical Society and that Mrs. Brooksher runs "the Arkansas chapter of the American Cancer Society, and the cancer program in Arkansas shouldn't be controlled by one family."

Funny life in the waters around Bermuda provided one designer with inspiration for these summer fashions. Straight and sleek sheath (left) has white background with all-over embroidery in mauve and blue. Since this is absolutely straight, it's for the girl with a very slim figure. Black cotton halter (top center) is worn with three-tiered skirt in sheer chartreuse tulle. This is right for patio, terrace or end-of-the-day and into the evening. A pale blue fish scale bodice (right) is used with full skirt in chartreuse for one-piece dress with stole. This is cotton broadcloth. Fish scale motif is repeated on stole ends. All designs are by Lotte of Drewyn. There's a marked difference in skirt treatments, allowing each woman to pick the type best for her.

DOROTHY DIX

Teen-ager's Problem

Dear Miss Dix: Is it right for a teen-ager to pet? A few weeks ago my girl friend and I went out with two 19-year-old boys. Flossie and I are 16. They drove us home from a dance, and just before we got to the house, they stopped the car and wanted to kiss and hug us. Flossie didn't mind, but I did, although I let the boy kiss me. When we got home, I felt so ashamed of myself, as it was the first time I was kissed by a boy. I had always thought my kisses would be saved for someone special.

Answer: You practically answered your own question, Janie, with the realization that your actions had cheapened you in your estimation. You may be sure that others will hold no higher opinion of you than you do yourself. Your instinctive standards are good; be guided by them. You realize that your kisses should be kept for someone special; stick to that ideal. You wouldn't go out a second time with a boy who wolfed his food, would you? Well, a boy who lacks the same discrimination in love is an equally undesirable companion.

Earn Respect
Don't worry about hurting a boy's feelings by refusing to pet. If he's the right kind of boy he'll respect you all the more; if he's the wrong kind, you're better off without him.

Promiscuous petting blocks the development of the right friendships at the very time when social contact are all-important. Teen-agers need the proper companionship in order to develop into the right sort of people; settling down to a steady diet of petting with one boy after another will eventually narrow your friendships, if they may be called that, to a very few unworthy boys. Stick to your guns, Janie; save your kisses for the boy who is willing for them until they are earned.

Dear Miss Dix: I am the young mother of two children, the older not yet two years old. We are buying our home, and have a large yard that needs lots of care. Every thing seems so hard for me and I never have any spare time. I don't seem to accomplish anything which makes my husband exasperated. I'm 27 and have been married four years.

Answer: Two babies involve plenty of work; perhaps if your husband had them for a few days he'd realize that their care doesn't leave too much time for other things. Your fatigue may have a physical basis, and I think a visit to the doctor might be helpful in building up your general health. Plan your day so that you have at least a short rest period in the afternoon, while the babies nap, and get out with your husband at least one evening a week. Someone in the family should be willing to baby-sit for you.

Dear Miss Dix: My husband's children are very kind to me but they introduce me as "My father's wife." Is this correct?

MARY T.
Answer: The form of address, or title of introduction, for a step-mother is a ticklish proposition. The youngsters naturally feel that "mother" wouldn't do, especially so soon after their father's remarriage. "Mrs. T." is too formal, and they may think that "my step-mother" has unpleasant implications, as most people do. Actually, the form of introduction they use is about as comprehensive and easy as any. Why not discuss the matter with your husband and decide between you what form you'd prefer?

Dear Miss Dix: My sister is getting married next month to my husband's brother. My husband and I are to stand up for them, but I intend to leave my husband before the wedding. Should I still stand up with him or do you think I should try to stick with him until the wedding is over?

B. H.
Answer: You certainly owe it to your sister to participate in her wedding to schedule, and since you and your husband will doubtless run into each other frequently as a result of this marriage, it would be foolish to make an issue out of your part in the ceremony. If would be even better if you stayed together until after the wedding. You've stood him this long, what difference will another month make?

Nashville to Try to Break Hope Record

The Hope Legionnaires put their perfect 6-0 record in league play on the line tonight when the Nashville Cubs oppose the locals at Fair Park. The Cubs have won two and lost 3 in Southwest Arkansas League play to date.

Donz Stephens, Hope's ace right hander, will start on the mound for the Legionnaires while Ralph Gregory is slated to be Nashville's opening pitcher.

Hope and Nashville have played one game this season with the Legionnaires emerging the winner by an 16 to 6 score in a wild melee. The Cubs are playing an improved brand of ball and are intent on evening the series with the Hope nine.

The Compleat Angler

By AL MCCLANE

Fishing Editor

I met a fellow yesterday who invented a portable surfboard for angling. At a quick glance the "reef" looks like any other surfboard, but a close inspection reveals a chrome-plated rod socket, a plexiglass panel for viewing underwater life, a waterproof tackle box, and numerous other fixtures which only a bathing suit fisherman would appreciate.

If you've ever had a yen to slip right into a school of fish, this is the ticket. You can troll, cast, still-fish, or spear-fish while sitting six inches over the water. The reef weighs 46 pounds, is highly maneuverable, and can be carried like a suitcase.

The big patch, of course, is that the reef can be based in a pond, river, or the ocean, and you can paddle to the fishing grounds. So far it has been used mainly by southern reef fishermen - hence the name. But on a bonafide fish you can stalk the xily monsters without blowing a ripple. And there's room aboard to store a spear gun.

If mamma doesn't fish, she can spend the afternoon exploring the bottom through the blue glass panel on deck. A rubber face mask around the panel makes long hours of window shopping a cinch. Smart operators are using the window to locate the biggest fish in a school before lowering their baits or slipping over the side for spearing.

But one woman added a new wrinkle while trolling over a Bahamian reef. Spying a school of large barracuda, she put her bait in front of a five-footer; when old razor mouth latched on, her heroine turned her drag down tight and had a sleigh ride - Nantucket style.

The barracuda pulled her reef for some distance before taking to the air. There was no point in sharing the surfboard with such an agile playmate, so she prudently cut her line.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NIGHT

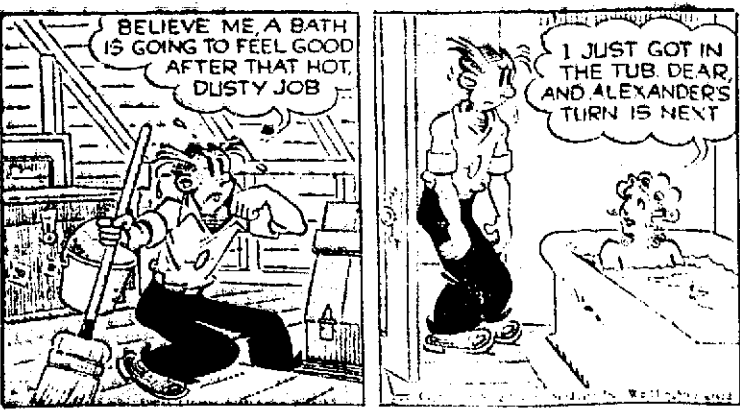

GAY had passed from his lethargy into an uncontrollable restlessness. We were all nervous enough, but she seemed to be building up to an hysterical outburst. She plucked now at Randolph's sleeve with fingers that trembled.

"Randy, I've got to see you."

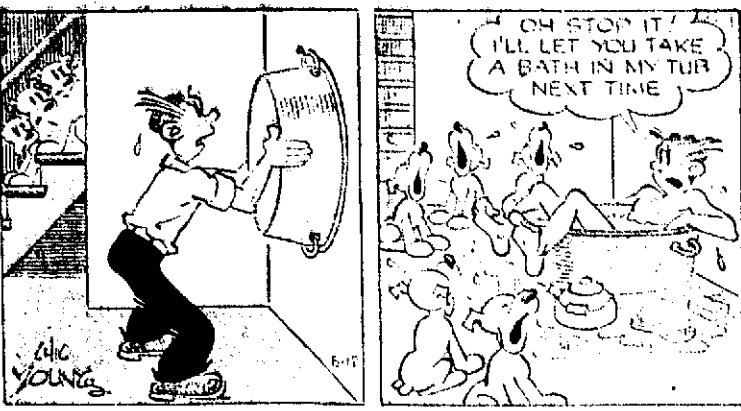

"Not now," he told her with polite firmness. "Not now."

Opdyke's dark and snarled cabin smell of damp upholstery, ship stowage, and strongly, very strongly, of the scented pomade with which he had rubbed his hair. The windows looked out on the sea, but the windows were tinted, the tint being a sun-baked steel walls was stifling. The man's belongings, more durable than his body had been, lay scattered about.

Christianity MUST Win! CHRISTIANITY WILL WIN!

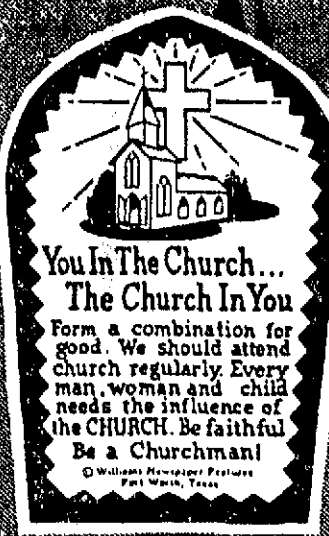

TO WHAT...

... true happiness, or to a state of disillusionment? Will the future be happier because they have a diploma? Unless they are prepared to take prosperity without pride and adversity without anguish... they are still unprepared.

What is crooked by nature can only be made straight by God.

If they have learned to do their duty instead of demanding their rights, they are learning God's way of life.

Four Teachers Miss the Boat

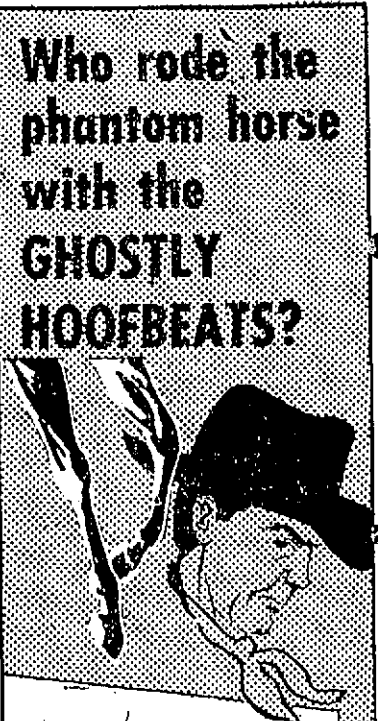

NEW YORK (UP)—Four school teachers from Memphis, Tenn., who had been scheduled to sail on the Cunard Liner Queen Mary for Europe today, became so interested in taking pictures of the big ship from the pier that they failed to board her in time. The ship sailed without them.

The teachers, so disappointed they could hardly talk with newsmen, were Mrs. Margaret Walsh, Martha McNulty, Elizabeth Haaga, and Elizabeth Sludge. They hoped to obtain passage aboard the SS America, sailing tomorrow afternoon.

The teachers had planned to spend two and a half months in Europe.

Lyle Allen, Pres.

Who rode the phantom horse with the GHOSTLY HOOFBEATS?

Some of the Bootjack settlers said it was Flint Manning, whose son, Cole had inherited his badge of law and order. Others knew that Cole Manning would need flesh and bones and brains to deal with the likes of Mack Torgin and Slade Ruxton. Perhaps only the lovely Laura really knew the answer...

You'll find out as you follow this fast-paced tale of a strange Western frontier—
